Are you a writer, photographer, blogger, communicator or livestock enthusiast interested in gaining more real-world experience in media coverage?

If so, apply for the 2011 American Royal Media Intern Program sponsored by the Livestock Publications Council. From Thursday, Oct. 27 to Sunday, Oct. 30, four students will be selected as media interns for the 2011 American Royal. We need talented ag communicators who have an interest in sharpening their skills. The interns will attend shows and events, write press releases, contribute to The Royal Results blog, shoot candid photographs, and assist breed association personnel with recording show results in the ring.

Students need to bring their own laptop computer. A digital camera is optional, but preferred. The interns will receive a $250 scholarship, free lodging and mentoring experiences by LPC professionals and breed association personnel that simply can't be gained in a classroom!

If you are interested in applying for this internship program, send a cover letter and resume to Jennifer Shike at jshike@illinois.edu by Wednesday, Sept. 14. If you have any questions, contact Jennifer at 217-369-2868. A committee will evaluate the resumes and announce the interns the week of September 26.
