2002 LPC Student Travel Award Winners

Committee chairman, Angie Denton, has announced that four students have been chosen as finalists for this year's Forrest Bassford Student Award which is sponsored jointly with the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and LPC. These students will be attending this year's Ag Publications Summit in Reno with $500 travel scholarships and the opportunity to network with professionals in the ag communications industry. The winner will be announced on Wednesday evening at the LPC Awards Banquet.

The finalists will go through an interview process which will be combined with their application scores and then a winner will be determined in Reno.

The student award committee and judges includes: Chairman Denton, Angus Journal; Erik Johnson, Bader Rutter & Associates; Lee Clark, Cow Country News; Jerilyn Johnson; Amanda Powell, McCormick Company; and Christy Couch, Homestead; Susan Rhode, American Angus Assn; Lori Gillmore, Deerfield Communications; Gabe Eckert, Georgia Cattleman.

Headliner and Hall of Fame winners to be announced soon!

In December the LPC board of directors selected the winners of these two prestigious awards but have been keeping mouths shut! Traditionally it has been announced during an official LPC event at the National Cattleman's Beef Assn. (NCBA) Convention in the winter. Since this event was not held this past year, it was decided to wait until this spring to announce the two winners. Watch for the names in the next issue of the Actiongram. Drum roll....!

APS Summer Intern Named

Alisa Tarter, junior at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, will be this year's APS summer intern which will include assisting with the coordination and planning of the Ag Publications Summit in Reno. Alisa's main interest is public relations and advertising sales with plans to graduate in May 2003.

Life's Unanswered Questions...

- Why is "abbreviated" such a long word?
- Why is it that doctors call what they do "practice"?
- Why is it that when you're driving and looking for an address, you turn down the volume on the radio?
- Why can't women put on mascara with their mouth closed?
- Why is the man who invests all your money called a broker?
- Why is the time of day with the slowest traffic called rush hour?
- Why isn't there mouse-flavored cat food?
- Why can't they make the whole plane out of the same substance that little indestructible black box is?

Members in the News

Burt Rutherford, communications director at the Texas Cattle Feeders Association, recently won two awards from the Texas Outdoor Writers Association--first place in newspaper features for a freelance article he wrote profiling the author of a book on hunting poetry and honorable mention for his "Ponderings" column published in "Outdoors in the Southern Rockies." In addition to freelancing for several publications on outdoor and wildlife management subjects, Rutherford is editor/publisher of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association's monthly newsletter.

Terry L. Stokes has been named chief executive officer of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA) effective immediately. Stokes is currently the organization's executive vice president and chief financial officer, and has served as interim CEO since the departure of Chuck Schroeder in February. Before joining NCBA in 1996 he was the executive vice president and CFO for the Texas Beef Council, where he had worked for three years.

New LPC members, Browarny Photographics LTD, Calgary Alberta, announces the addition of Jim Koch, of Arvada, CO, to the photography and livestock marketing staff of Browarny Digital.

Koch brings strong talents to the expansion of the digital capabilities and scope of operation of Browarny Digital. He has an animal science degree from University of Nebraska, and was previously employed by Western Livestock Journal, Polar Publications, Colorado Rancher Farmer, Charolais Journal. For the past 15 years Koch owned and operated a photography studio in Arvada which he recently sold.

Koch and Walt Browarny were featured in an article published on the front page of the Wall Street Journal. Jim was also featured on three nationally televised programs with stories on his role as a professional livestock photographer, including Good Morning America.

SEEKING JOB IN AG INDUSTRY

Maggie Martin writes:

"I have the good fortune of becoming an Idahoan in July and am seeking employment opportunities in the area. I will be living on a ranch about 50 miles northwest of Boise, but am willing to travel anywhere in the area. My experience has been with editorial writing and design, public relations, fund development and photography. Before graduating from Kansas State University in December 2001, I interned with the American Quarter Horse Association and the Kansas 4-H Foundation. At present, I am interning for the American Hereford Association as part of the communications staff.

For a résumé and samples, please contact me at 816-243-7422 or maggiejmartin@hotmail.com."

Mentor Programs Planned

The Central Region Mentor event has been postponed. Watch for more details for a re-scheduled event in November.
